

CUSTOM HOME PRE-DESIGN QUESTIONNAIRE

We have put together a list of questions to help you articulate your vision for your new home. You can print these questions out and answer them as a starting point to the planning process, or just use the list to help clarify your needs and goals are. Think of this form as an “icebreaker”. We crafted it to help you navigate initial conversations with your Home Designer and Builder.

As you go through the questions, keep a few things in mind:

| Dream big, then scale back.

Don't be afraid to think about and describe what your “perfect world” would be like. As things move forward you can adjust these ideas to the budget, zoning, timeframe, land, and other realities.

| Separate the “needs”, “wants”, “dreams”, and “don't wants”.

The needs in your home you cannot live without. The wants in your home are realistic and easily obtainable. The dreams for your home are more difficult to achieve and require immense resources. The things you don't want in your home are equally important to imagining your home's image.

| Rank your desired features in order of importance.

This may help you make difficult concessions later.

| Don't try to solve the problem, just express your desires.

Even if your problems and desires seem at odds with each other or impossible to obtain, keep moving with your design and focus on what you want. If there are differing opinions between you and your partner, include all of the opinions. It's important to address everyone's concerns in order to create something that works for everyone.

| Describe what and why you like or don't like.

Think about things you're opinionated on in your own home or other homes. Give examples and use as many descriptive words as you can.

| Collect some images of features or things that you're drawn to.

Houzz and Pinterest are great places to find inspiration. Magazine clippings work great too. Consider floor plans, architectural features, and building materials that you like, or ones that create a certain mood or feeling.

| If a question is not relevant to your situation, just skip it.

What kind of aesthetic are you looking to achieve in the building? Is there a message or feeling you want the house to convey? (For example, do you want to convey a sense of calm? Do you want an atmosphere of clean efficiency?)

Are there any particular architectural features you hope to incorporate?
(For example, fireplaces, cathedral ceilings, wine cellar, courtyard, etc.)

Do you have any specific types of building materials in mind for your home?
(For example, copper roof, stucco siding, natural stone, stamped concrete floors, barnwood accents, etc.)

ENTERTAINING

How will you or your family members be using the home, and how frequently? (For example, do you plan to work from home? Do you plan to entertain? Are you an aspiring chef? Do you intend to host a lot of family?)

What is your entertaining lifestyle?

We entertain at least a few times per month, sometimes as large gatherings. It's important that our home flows well with a large number of people.

We entertain smaller groups during the summer months and holidays.

We entertain occasionally, but do not need to design our home around our infrequent gatherings.

We rarely entertain. We would rather go out to meet friends/family.

What rooms or areas of the home do you prefer to entertain in?
